GLENCOLMCILLE

Plate XVI A relief map of the parish illustrating the rugged terrain. (By permission of the Ordnance Survey)

The above of Map of Glencolumbkille is from Glencolumcille: A Parish History 2002 by Conall Mac Cuinneagáin. Four Masters Press. S.Ó.G.

Réamhrá—Foreword

Last year (2009), Kevin Haughey of Roxboro', Kilcar and Dublin gave me a copy of the 1878 Glencolumbkille Stipend Book. The book contains valuable information on the families in the Parish in the last quarter of the 19th Century. I made a start on scanning it on to my computer but I did not get it completed. In April this year at Éigse Theilinn, Eoghan Ó Cuirrighín, An Baile Mór, gave me an identical copy and I have now completed the work.

Both copies were photocopies of poor quality and many pages had a broad black margin on the left-hand side which obscured some of the text. I scanned the pages as best I could into MS Publisher and then converted them into a PDF File. Many of the insertions are not very legible and there are many doodles on the pages. I kept both the insertions and doodles. I find that the File is easier to read on the computer screen (which can be enlarged) than as a printed copy. (My printer is an ancient model).

The Stipend Register is believed to have been compiled in 1878, but it was not completed until some time later. It remained in use until 1891. As can be seen, there were many additions and deletions done to it during those years.

Fr John McGroarty was appointed Parish Priest in 1870. He died in November 1878. Fr Peter Kelly was PP from January 1879 until October 1880. Fr Francis William Gallagher was PP from the autumn 1880 until he died in March 1886. Fr Peter McDevitt was PP from 1886 until he died in 1905.

The Layout of the Book

The name of the Townland is at the top of each page.

The book is laid out in three columns—Householder—Wife—Children.

Just to the left of the names are the ages of the people. The ages of the children can be taken to be fairly accurate. The ages given by the adults may not be! Before the Old Age Pension came into force in 1909, ages were not important.

Insertions

Page Numbers: I think that the Page Nos. were added by the person who made the Photo-copy?

On the left edges of the pages, near the Householders names are figures £1.00; 10/-, 5/-, etc. I am guessing that these were the amount of the Stipends assessed?

Above some of the names are entries like: [R], £2-17-6; 1 cow; 1 calf; 1 stirk; 1 heifer; 10 sheep; a wee pig. I think that: [R], £2-17-6 refers to the Rent due to the Landlord? The others are the stock figures admitted to!

Df: seems to be an abbreviation of defunct / deceased?

Other Items

Page 9: The Townland and names on this page are not clear?

Page 37, Loughinsha: There are no details about the names.

Page No. 91 can be ignored; while it is part of the original document, it seems to be an accounts page. The names on it appear to come from the Kinnakillew and Drim lists.

Kinnakillew: In the Stipend Book 15 Households are listed in this Townland. In the Griffiths Valuation 1857 there are 30 Households listed in the Townland of Kinnakillew, which includes, Gortalunn and Suide! Therefore, we can assume that Gortalunn and Suide are not listed in the 1878 Stipend Book.

The following Townlands are not listed either: Braade Upper; Braade Lower; Drumroe; Faugher, Gannew and Curran; Glenlough; Kilgoly; Kiltyfanned; Lougheraherk; Meenacross; Meenadiff, Meenadreen, Meenasilagh, Port, Straid; Stranagartan.

Ballymore: In The Stipend Book the Teelin the Townlands of Shanbally and Lergadaghtan are included with the Townland of Ballymore.

Despite the shortcomings of the Stipend Book, it is a mine of useful information. It should be studied in conjunction with:

Appendix 5 pp 281-306 in Glencolmcille: A Parish History 2002 Dublin, by Conall Mac Cuinneagáin.

Chapter 31, Tenants of 1848, 1857, 1867 pp 190-213 in Glencolumbkille: A History 300 BC—1901 AD 2001 by Aidan Manning.
